The German Development Institute / Deutsches Institut für Entwicklungspolitik (DIE) is one of the leading think tanks on development policy. Through excellent research, policy advice and training, the Institute contributes to finding solutions to global challenges.

There is a job vacancy in department IV (Environmental Policy and Management of Natural Resources) from 01 January 2012 until 31 December 2014 for a

Researcher (m/f)

Salary between € 38,000.00 and € 49,000.00 depending on qualifications;

The person will carry out research on benefit-sharing and issues of social inclusion in the context of REDD+ (reducing emissions from forest degradation and deforestation) as well as on the topic of forests in the international climate negotiations in the context of the BMZ-funded project Climate Change and Development.

Qualifications and requirements:

- Masters degree and strong academic record in political science, public policy, economics or human geography, preferably PhD;
- Proven knowledge in the field of forests in the climate negotiations;
- Relevant research or consulting experience in a development context is of advantage;
- Willingness to work in teams;
- Fluent spoken and written English and basic knowledge of German; proficiency in another UN language is of advantage;
- Willingness and aptness to travel internationally within and outside Europe, including to countries with a tropical climate.

The German Development Institute / Deutsches Institut für Entwicklungspolitik (DIE) offers an interesting activity area at the interface of research and policy advice in a family-friendly environment, with ample opportunities to engage in international discussions, political processes and scientific discourse.

Same qualifications provided, we favour applications of physically challenged persons.

For further questions, please contact Dr. Fariborz Zelli or Mr. Hannes Hotz.

Applications – if possible in paper form - with meaningful documentation are to be received by November 18, 2011 at:

Deutsches Institut für Entwicklungspolitik
Tulpenfeld 6, 53113 Bonn/Germany
Telefon +49 (0)228 94927-0, Telefax +49 (0)228 94927-130
DIE@die-gdi.de  www.die-gdi.de  www.facebook.com/DIE.Bonn